CHIPS.

Naturalists tell us that the male mosquitoes never bite. A liberal reward will be paid at this office for a few male mosquitoes. We have an interest longing to see a mosquito that never bites.

There is no more trying moment in a young man's life than that when he sits upon a mossy bank in a shaded nook with his best girl by his side and feels a wild-eyed blonde bumble-bee crawling within the off leg of his summer pants.

When a six-dollars-a-week city clerk straddles his nose with a pair of eye glasses, spends a week's salary for a diamond pin and goes out into the country to astonish the natives, he is doubtless surprised to find that he is not as much of a curiosity as a hand-organ monkey in a calico overcoat.

"Smoking is an unnatural habit; smoking is a selfish habit; smoking is a wasting habit; smoking is an expensive habit; smoking is an unhealthy habit and smoking is an exhaustive habit." So wrote a moral country editor, but just then an old subscriber came in and handed him a good cigar, and the editorial on smoking was laid over until next week.

The man who sits down on the road to success and waits for a free ride, will get left.—Whitewall Times.

The murderer who was hung for a crime caused by intemperance took his final drop on the scaffold.—Philadelphia Sun.

The colleges are busy lettering great men so that they can be indentified if they go astray in the hereafter.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

"Walter, here's a fly in my tea."

"Thank you sir, I did not notice it."

Lays down a check for five cents extra.—Boston Post.

A young lady in New York has appropriately named her dog Penny, because it was one sent her.—Elevated Railway Journal.

There is one good thing about this whole business of a man's conscience smiting him—generally he isn't hit very hard.—Toronto Grip.

"Honesty is the best policy." But you have to pay the premium in this world, and realize on your insurance in the next.—New York Elevated Railway Journal.

Comets are said to be a sign of war, and front gates already begin to feel the depressing efforts of the one now visible.—Waterloo Observer.

There are two possible things greatly dreaded by New Yorkers just now. One is a bear famine, and we have forgotten the other.—Norristown Herald.

A fashion report says: "Many ladies still prefer the regular coat sleeve for dresses." We suppose they are to be worn about the waists.—Whitewall Times.

Mrs. S.—"Agustus, my love, the doctor says I must have a change of air," Agustus—"All right, my dear; I'll take you to two funerals to-morrow!"—Phila. Item.

A New York man has been crazed by rum and milk. One of the very worst things a man can do is to mix drinks. He should have stuck to plain rum.—Norristown Herald.

Among the passengers who started for Europe last Saturday was Count Vitshum von Beckstaedt. He probably rode on the stern of the steamer and towed his name along behind a string.—New York Commercial.

Dr. Franklin's mother-in-law objected to her daughter marrying a printer, because there were already two printing offices in the United States, and she didn't think the country could support three. Her prophetic vision was limited.—New Haven Register.

"How we room in words of bliss, when we sip the loving 'kiss,'" says the poet of the Whitewall Times. Yes, how we do. But isn't it a little insipid to "sip" a kiss? We think a kiss is best as a sort of—well eating one whole is the best way.—New Haven Register.

"Is the devil dead, mamma?" "No, my child; why do you ask?" "Because I heard pap tell a young lady at his store to-day not to send him any more notes, for if you found 'em in his pockets you would raise the devil. Can you raise him?" "Yes, I can, and I'm just going to," said the mother, as she put on her bonnet and shawl and started for the store.—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

"Were you drunk?" asked his honor at the central station of a prisoner who had been found in the gutter. "Were I drunk?" "Yes." "Well, the last thing I remember was seeing the City Hall tower leaning over within a foot of my head, and I squatted to get out of the way. If the tower is down I was sober; if it's up there yet I'll admit that I came awful near having an attack of the vertigo."—Detroit Free Press.

A HAMMICK'S WILD WAY.—An Illinois exchange feels called to thus deliver itself: "His hammock swung loose at the sport of the wind," and tumbled the Hon. J. S. Irwin on his head, and but for the application of St. Jacob's Oil, he might have gone "where the wobbling twelfth." Even so does B. O., as many others have gone, who failing to use the Great German Remedy in time for their rheumatism and other dangerous diseases, "have paid the debt of Nature." Rub is our motto.—Cleveland (Ohio) Herald.

From THE HUB.—There is nothing to compare to the public the possessors of which are most restful and rest-giving as the Hop Bitter. Just at this season of the year, when the stomach gets an appetite, and the body is fatigued purifying the system, and best remedy is Hop Bitters. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Don't wait until you are prostrated by a disease that may take months for you to recover in.—Boston Globe.
